"I do have a future, and the picture of that future is made up of a multitude of tiny dots called 'right now.'" Carrie Host, "Between Me and the River"

The Healing Garden provides the perfect sanctuary to find comfort and inspiration in Carrie's words as she shares her message of finding inner strength and purpose in the "right now."

Celebrate the stories and work of other survivors who have used their experience to help others.

Experience how nature and the magnificent view from the Healing Garden contribute to a renewal of energy, hope and connection to others and the greater world.
